Attention: [REDACTED]

Gentlemen:

Reference is made to a letter dated October 23, 1946, from [REDACTED] Strategic Services Unit, reporting an outstanding claim of the United States against [REDACTED] in the amount of $50, representing an advance of funds to the debtor while he was attached to the Office of Strategic Services.

25X1A

Under date of February 13, 1950, the matter of the above indebtedness was referred to the Department of Justice and there now has been received from the United States Attorney for the District of Columbia a letter dated December 5, 1951, reporting that it will be necessary to file suit to protect the interests of the Government and requesting that the file in this case be made available to his office for use in the preparation and trial thereof.

The matter of the proof necessary to establish the Government's claim in this case was discussed by Mr. Mason of this Office with your [REDACTED] and it is understood that no voucher was issued in connection with the advance made to [REDACTED] that it may be that a receipt for the funds was signed by the debtor and that upon the receipt of a request an examination would be made of the pertinent accounts. In order that this Office may be of assistance to the United States Attorney in this matter, it will be appreciated if your office will furnish this Office with such evidence as may be available in your records tending to establish the fact of the advance to the debtor. If no receipt is available, please furnish the name of the person who made the advance of funds to [REDACTED] and that person's address, if known to your office.

Sincerely yours,

Comptroller General
of the United States
